

Jordan Flesch

My name is Jordan Flesch, and I am 28 years old. I am an Army brat and Coast Guard kid, and have lived many places in my life. I lived in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., from 2008-18 due to my father being in the Coast Guard. I currently reside in Seattle, Wash., pursuing a job as a police officer. I have been a singer my entire life.

I got really big into singing when I discovered country music around 16 years old. My biggest influences are Carrie Underwood, Miranda Lambert, Martina McBride and Faith Hill, to name a few. The only problem I had was exceptionally bad stage fright, and it kept me from pursuing anything with singing. In the past two years, I have worked extremely hard at managing those feelings and now feel comfortable on stage.
